

Q: Will you edit or proofread my paper?

A: The WRC makes it a point to not proofread or edit papers. Our goal is to help students identify their own writing challenges, and show them various ways to correct them for themselves.

Q: What can you help me with?

A: We can help you:

- Understand your assignment
- Brainstorm and develop your ideas
- Plan and organize your ideas
- Thesis statement creation
- Engaging introductions and conclusions

Just to name a few!

Q: What do I bring to an appointment?

A: In order for our writing consultants to best assist you, we recommend that you bring the assignment instructions, pen/pencil, paper, your draft (if you have it), feedback (if you've submitted a draft), the rubric, an inquisitive mind, the willingness to answer questions, and a positive attitude.

Q: Can you help me format my assignment in APA, MLA, or any other writing styles?

A: Yes, we can assist with in-text citations, reference pages, and everything in between. We cannot, however, assist with formatting processing programs like Microsoft Word.

Q: Can I schedule more than one appointment at a time?

A: No. We request that you schedule an appointment, complete it, and then schedule another appointment. Doing so will allow us to assist the entire FAMU community.

Please Note: If you schedule multiple appointments, you will run the risk of having your account temporarily suspended from making appointments.

Q: Do you help with group assignments?

A: Yes we do! Just make an appointment, and in the notes, inform the tutor that you're working on a group assignment, and are bringing your groupmates. We will take it from there.

Q: What do I do if I have to reschedule my appointment?

A: You can email us at wrc@famuedu, or call us at 850.599.8391 to cancel.
